Projected U.S. Sub Could Fire on Soviet From American Port

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A submarine capable of hitting the Soviet Union with nuclear missiles while docked in a U.S. port is beginning to play an important part in the Pentagon's strategic planning for the 1970s.

Ironically, the program, referred to by the Navy as "ULMS"—undersea long range missile system—was all but dead a few months ago.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird spoke of ULMS Wednesday as one of two new strategic arms systems to get high priority consideration if the Soviet offensive capability grows.

The defense chief said the advanced sub-missile system or a new bomber to replace the aging B52 may be necessary if the Soviet missile deployments continue or if there is no agreement at the Russian-U.S. arms limitation talks.

Either system would provide a means of expanding the U.S. nuclear arsenal to assure survival of a large portion of the American retaliatory force during a surprise attack.

The United States has for the moment decided against building more land-based missile silos, choosing instead to defend such sites from attack with the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

The undersea long range missile system, which essentially would be an extension and improvement of the present 41-boat Polaris fleet, was put in the defense budget as a research item last spring.

The Senate Armed Services Committee cut the $20 million in ULMS research money in a move that would have killed the program but Laird personally and successfully appealed for reinstatement of $10 million.

Laird reminded reporters Wednesday he had been one of the moving factors behind the Polaris program as a congressman from Wisconsin, a comment which perhaps signified that the ULMS could be a favored system of the future.

Navy leaders say the big advantage of ULMS would be the ability of all its subs to retaliate simultaneously regardless of their position.

Because of the limited range of the present Polaris missiles, generally one-third of the subs are out of range of the Soviet Union at any given time because they are in port for leave or overhaul.

Navy officials say the long reach capability of the proposed system would allow basing of all ULMS submarines in the United States.

"They could operate submerged in waters adjacent to U.S. shores as well as cruise in distant waters always within range of Soviet targets," Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, Chief of Naval Operations, testified in Congress.

Moorer said only about 9 percent of the Soviet's defense perimeter can be covered currently by weapons located in the United States, leaving the rest to be covered from the sea.

Moorer calculated the longer range ULMS missile, which like the new Poseidon missile can carry multiple warheads, would give the Navy a tenfold increase in the sea area from which submarines could reach strategic targets, thus complicating the Soviet Union's problems of defending against submarines.

Since ULMS is still in the research stage, few details have emerged about the program. However, officials indicate it would cost several billion dollars.

Marine Takes '5th' on Riot Charge

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A prosecution witness took the fifth amendment against self-incrimination Wednesday at the court-martial of four black Marines charged with rioting.

Marine Pvt. Lorenzo Jenkins declined to answer questions during a hearing out of the presence of the eight court members.

The defendants, all Vietnam veterans, are charged in connection with an incident at the Memphis Naval Air Station last July. They are accused of rioting, conspiracy to riot, assault, and other, lesser charges.

All four have been identified by witnesses as having taken part in fights at a barracks and later at a club. They have contended that the fracas were moka like fights than riots and were started by an ambush by white Marines.

Jenkins had also been questioned in the incident and defense lawyers said that charges against him had been dropped in return for his testimony. The prosecution said this was not true and that Jenkins had been cleared of having taken part in the violence.

Jenkins was declared a hostile witness.

Search Centers in Craighead for Lost Man

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A search was continuing today for a Craighead County man missing since Monday night.

The Craighead County sheriff's office identified the missing man as Tommy Langston, 51, of near Cash.

Authorities said Langston and his wife were on their way home last Monday night when Langston lost control of his truck and it slid into a ditch. They said Langston left his wife in the truck and started walking toward home to get help.

health as the result of taking her out on the town four or five nights a week.

To cease trying personally to reform members of the Mafia who you think may have gone a step too far.

To abstain from chewing ice cubes in church during Lent.

Now really, even though these good resolutions are negative, they aren't too hard to keep, are they? And the mere fact you haven't broken them could make you feel warm all over, couldn't it?

The same holds true for making good resolutions that are positive—ones by which you pledge yourselves to do something that will improve your life.

For example, you might vow to—

Praise your boss to his face instead of just circulating kind words about him behind his back.

Help your firm get out of the red by using just one paper towel, instead of seven, when drying your face in the office washroom.

Agree to lick the stamps for your wife's Christmas cards if she'll agree to go on carrying out the garbage throughout the year.

Get the idea? Any good resolution you make and keep, no matter how small, can't help but make you feel you're a better man when 1971 dawns.

Record, Kennedy was known to be anxious to challenge it with a report he received from a consulting firm which made a private investigation.

So closely have the witnesses observed the court's admonition to refrain from discussing their testimony outside the courtroom that it could not even be definitely ascertained how many witnesses had testified since Kennedy led off Monday at the start of the inquest. It was learned Wednesday that two Kennedy friends the senator said had helped him dive in vain for the body testified they thought he was going to the police when he impulsively swam the swirling ferry channel back to Edgartown from Chappaquiddick Island.

The friends—his first cousin, Joseph F. Gargan, and attorney Paul Markham—told the court they did not know until the next morning that Kennedy had not gone to the police.

According to the testimony, they had driven from the accident scene to the ferry slip, exhausted from their efforts, and suddenly Kennedy was out of the car and swimming well offshore.

Edmund S. Dinis, the district attorney who called for the inquest and is helping to conduct it, made an unexpected appearance Wednesday at the press center in the Methodist Church.

Dinis ordered a bowl of chili and a bowl of corn chowder from the Methodist ladies who have been feeding the press, then sat at a table and ate as reporters and camera men swarmed about him.

He refused comment about the inquest but said he will vote for the senator this year if Kennedy is renominated. Dinis also noted that district attorneys are empowered to take a case to a grand jury for possible indictment regardless of the outcome of an inquest, although he declined to say whether he had any such plans.

U.S. Action Put Arkansas in a 'Bind'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A staff report of the Associated Industries of Arkansas and the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce says that a fiscal crisis in state government that began to emerge in 1967 was caused by a change in federal spending patterns, a "hidden recession, inflation and the income tax windfall of 1965-66."

The report said the crisis first led to a special session of the General Assembly early in 1968 to shuffle fund balances of state agencies to allow some programs to finish that fiscal year.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller then began to seek a large tax increase in 1969.

According to the study report, in the late 1950s and early 1960s, Arkansas had bumper revenue years because of rapid economic growth, an increase in the sales tax and "relatively large year-to-year increases from the federal government."

The report said increases in the cigarette tax and gasoline tax and the windfall from the start of the state income tax withholding heightened collections in 1964-66.

The situation worsened in 1967, and the report gave these reasons:

— Federal matching funds, which increased annually at an average rate of 17 per cent from fiscal 1956 through 1966, increased only about 4 per cent starting in fiscal 1966, and decreasing 2 per cent in fiscal 1969.

— The so-called "hidden recession" of 1967-68 reduced general and special revenue receipts sharply.

— The decline in the rate of increased revenues that followed the income tax windfall presented a critical situation and brought about the spending employ in serving a warrant. Groth said that with the exception of the submachine gun, the weapons were ones normally employed by his officers in serving warrants.

Gerber asked if Groth considered using tear gas. "No, sir," the officer replied, "I didn't see any need for it. I was going to execute a warrant."

The deputy coroner said the weapons still seemed extremely dangerous for such a mission. "Why did you not feel that other means, such as tear gas, could be used to subdue the inhabitants for the apartment?" he asked.

"There was no tear gas available," Groth replied.

"You mean there was none in the building at the time you left for the raid?" said Gerber.

"Yes," said Groth.

The officer testified he was apprehensive about serving the warrant because there was a possibility the apartment was a "Panther pad or warehouse of weapons."

Some community groups have asserted that police should have used tear gas to clear the apartment. They dispute the police version of a gun battle between officers and Panthers and contend Hampton was killed as he slept.

Eudora Not Able to Desegregate

EUDORA, Ark. (AP) — The superintendent of Eudora Schools said Wednesday it was impossible for the district to desegregate immediately in order to qualify for continued federal aid.

Supt. Tommy Venters said the district was taking steps to adopt a unitary system in September, but that it can't switch from its present freedom-of-choice plan before then without damaging the education of its pupils.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Wednesday that formal action was being initiated that could lead to a cutoff of federal funds to the schools for failure to desegregate immediately.

HEW sent state Education Commissioner A. W. Ford a telegram Tuesday night asking him to instruct his staff to make no further commitments of federal funds to Eudora and the Chicot County School Districts.

Eudora, which has 1,925 pupils, receives $125,000 in federal funds. HEW action would not affect funds for the current school year.

The Chicot County district is threatened with a loss of funds because it sends its pupils in grades nine through 12 to Eudora on a tuition basis according to C. P. McCaskill, superintendent. The eight grades the county district operates are totally integrated, he said.

McCaskill said he didn't know of any action the district could take to prevent a loss of federal funds.

Yugoslav Feud Takes Its Toll

PRIZREN, Yugoslavia (AP) — For three years the Taci family stayed indoors to escape the vengeance of the Mazreku family. Then Becir Taci ventured out to the family's vineyard—and lost his life.

The two families live in the village of Mamusi, near this southern Yugoslav town. Three years ago, some of the Taci clan killed two of the Mazreku's sons. Under the tradition of this part of the Balkans, the killing entitled the Mazreku to two Taci lives.

Remedy for Brain Stroke Discovered

TORONTO (AP) — A Toronto brain surgeon has described a new method of improving blood circulation in the brains of stroke victims by replacing blocked arteries in the head with grafted leg veins.

Dr. William Loughheed of Toronto General Hospital said that early last month a 54-year-old Toronto woman underwent such an operation. She has since recovered, he said.

Two operating teams headed by Loughheed used new surgical equipment in a 12-hour operation on the woman Dec. 5, the surgeon said in a report this week.

He said a leg vein section was used to bypass a blocked carotid artery just above the neck.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Obese Have Odd Appetite 'Triggers'

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

The obese, those unhappy people who are more than 15 per cent overweight, eat for somewhat different reasons than the average person. As a rule, their "appetite" is not caused entirely by true hunger but is cued by external stimulation. In other words, between the average person and the greatly overweight there are major differences in the extent to which physiological (or stomach) changes are associated with the desire to eat.

Very often the obese person literally may not know when he is actually physically hungry," observes Dr. Stanley Schachter, professor of psychology at Columbia University. "Often when he uses the word 'hunger' he is not referring to his bodily state but to a desire triggered by some outside influence."

He explains that these observations are based on several recent experiments. In one, obese subjects (from 14 to 25 pounds overweight) and normal subjects were used. The normal ate fewer crackers when their stomachs were full than when empty. The obese ate slightly more even though they were full of food. Obviously, the actual state of the stomach has little to do with the eating habits of the obese.

Fear, artificially induced in the same experiment, reduced the appetite of the normal persons but had no effect on the obese.

We have found that when food is dull and uninteresting and the obese will eat practically nothing, despite the emptiness of their stomachs. The normal person, however, eats according to his physical hunger. He is relatively unaffected by external circumstances or the rituals associated with eating. Which makes it clear that eating is triggered by different sets of stimuli in the obese and normal subjects. We suspect that the eating behavior of the obese is relatively unrelated to any internal state. To a large degree, it is activated and terminated by stimuli external to the body's need for food," Schachter says, adding:

"Which may explain the notorious 'binge' eating of the grossly overweight, inspired by taste, sight or smell of food."

At Columbia University, he explains, students can eat in dormitory dining halls on a prepayment plan. They may cancel contracts for a fee of $15. The food being institutional and not very interesting, the obese freshmen cancel out more frequently than normal students, obviously influenced by better restaurants with more stimulating food.

"The sense of time also can influence eating. Most people eat every four to six hours. So we gimmicked two clocks, one reading 5:20 and the other 6:05. The manipulating of the clocks caused the obese subjects to eat only a few crackers at 5:20 but a great many when they thought it was 6:05. It had the opposite effect on the normal who, being physiologically hungry and aware that they would have dinner shortly, were unwilling to dull their appetites by filling up on crackers," he cites.

"These various studies, and several more, indicate strongly that psychological food deprivations are directly related to hunger and reported experiences of hunger in normal-weight people. But they appear largely unrelated in the obese. Also that external or nonvisceral cues, such as smell, taste the sight of others eating and the passage of time, affect the eating pattern of the obese to a great extent."

Pills, diets even fads may all be helpful in reducing the obese who are determined to lose weight. But all the evidence, all the literature on the subject, indicate that after they lose weight by whatever means they almost invariably, regain it," Schachter observes.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Russell, the great cowboy artist of the Old West, was an ideal subject for the "Project 20" treatment given him Wednesday night.

Available for the NBC documentary were the many paintings by the artist which formed a sort of diary of his long experience first as hunter and cowboy and, after his marriage in 1895, as a professional artist observing men, animals and mountain in his beloved Montana.

The paintings were laced with old photographs—many of them of Russell at various stages of his career—and highlighted with recent film shot on the Montana plains.

The subject, a St. Louis boy who went west on a stage coach when he was 16, sketched and painted for his own diversion for years. His first exhibits were in saloons for he sometimes traded painting for food or drink. When he died in 1926 he was famous, his paintings—of buffaloes, in widely reproduced as calendar art. Recently a painting of his sold for $15,000.

The mood of the program, with a sensitive narration by Milburn Stone, was as nostalgic as Russell's own feeling that he was documenting a dying era of American history. It was an excellent program, perhaps a little long-winded, but the sort of thing television doesn't do very much any more.

There is a strong probability that Mary Griffin and company will soon move his late-evening CBS program to Hollywood.

CBS executives—not exactly ecstatic over Griffin's ratings, about half those of Johnny Carson—are concerned over the scramble for guests in New York now that Dick Cavett is also in the field. Hollywood whatever it may lack in non-theatrical personalities, has an endless supply of film and TV stars.

Joey Bishop was Hollywood-based, and the stream of stars save his show.

It would be a big wrench for production company operating in New York—NBC's "Jeopardy" is a Griffin production—assorted financial interests and a farm in New Jersey. Arthur Treacher has an important piece of a new restaurant which has been given his nickname, "Pip's Pub," in New York plus other business interest. CBS has the old Cort Theatre, expensively remodeled to suit the needs of the show.

NBC is doing some in-fighting that may interfere with ABC's Second Season premieres. On Wednesday, Jan. 21, when ABC's comedy series "Nanny and the Professor" bows, Joan Crawford will be guest-starring in "The Virginian." Later that night, when "The Johnny Cash Show" has its debut, NBC will broadcast a Friars' "roast" of Jack Benny with a big lineup of stars.

'The Great Imposter' Is Now a Cleric

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — Ferdinand Waldo DeMara, known as "The Great Imposter," has turned up in this island town as pastor of the San Juan Baptist Church, the Seattle Times said Wednesday.

DeMara is known here as the Rev. Dr. Fred W. DeMara, the Times said. He arrived about a month ago to preach in the 30-member Conservative Baptist Church.

Asked about his appointment to the pulpit in Friday Harbor, a town of 780 persons north of Seattle, DeMara answered:

"I can't see that a response would serve any useful purpose. Thank you for your interest, though."

He has made no attempt to conceal his identity. DeMara, in past times and places, has posed as a college psychology professor, Canadian Navy surgeon, deputy prison warden, Trappist monk, school teacher and zoologist.

He also has been an evangelist in a Los Angeles Skid Row mission, a postulant in a small, interfaith monastery at Wren, Mo., and operator of a boys' camp near Placerville, Calif.

He was the subject of a 1961 movie called "The Great Imposter," starring Tony Curtis.

His discharge from the Royal Canadian Navy and deportation to the United States brought him national notice in 1951 when it was discovered he had impersonated a surgeon and performed successful surgery on Korean war wounded.

102-45. That is what the Magnolia Panthers did to the Hope Bobcats on January night last year. Tomorrow night the teams reconvene here at Jones Field House and the prize will be a big stake in the playoffs.

Local athletes can really make a difference in athletics, and Hope Coach John Ross has used that 100-point defeat as an extra incentive in preparing his forces for a rough game with the Panthers.

With a better record against more impressive opposition, Magnolia has to rate the favorite's role. Fairview only beat them by one point, and the Panthers' Coach Connie Maloch fully expects a state tournament berth come March.

Actually, consolidation with Magnolia Columbia has given Maloch the bulk of his material, but the Magnolia Panther Cubs were the state AA junior champions last winter. That helps.

Guard Horace Gantt was a fine outside shooter for Columbia last year, but those former Owls may have problems breaking in on proven starters like 6-3 forward Joe Caldwell, 6-2 Bill Daugherty, and 6-4 soph Lathell MacKeller, and lanky 6-3 Mark Phillips, a junior.

On Saturday night Smackover will visit Jones Field House and should make for a real closely-matched battle. The Bucks have made it to state tournament for several years running, but are a little off that form this season.

For the Bobcats, the front line will likely start with 6-5 Larry Muldrew and 6-0 Lee Davis at the forwards, with 6-6 John Dudley jumping center. Also, 6-2 men Lynn Norton and Charles Rateliff are sure to see action, as well as Tim White and Thomas Morvalli.

In the backcourt will probably be guards Parker Powell and David Briggs, both about 5-10 or 5-11 and good defensive ball players. However, there are also Ronnie Massanelli, Ronny Brown, or Roger Newton, all of whom respond well under pressure.

Friday night the Hope and Magnolia junior boys have the opener at 6:30 p.m., and the "B" teams start the action with Smackover at the same time Saturday.

Tonight at 6:30 p.m. the Hope Lady Cats and the "B" Lizards will host Bodcaw at Jones Field House for two games.

Charlotte Gibson's Lady Cats are 3-8 so far with a young team, but Hope should be favored in the senior girls game.

Bodcaw always has a competent Senior Boys squad, and this year is no exception. The Hope "B" Boys will be playing at home for the first time this evening.

Purdue Coach Retiring After 23 Years

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue football Coach Jack Mollenkopf, deciding against asking a waiver of the retirement age rule, is leaving coaching after 23 years here.

Mollenkopf, who will be 65 July 1, told his staff of the decision Wednesday in a conference call from Honolulu where he is coach for the Hula Bowl.

In 14 years as Purdue head coach Mollenkopf has 84 victories, 39 losses and nine ties. His last five teams had records of 8-2 or better.

Bob DeMoss, Mollenkopf's senior assistant, was rated a prime candidate to succeed him. Athletic Director Guy (Red) Mackey called a news conference for today and there was speculation the new coach would be named.

Senior Bowl Players Work in Bitter Cold

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — North and South squads wind up two-day practices today in the same chill weather which sent the Yankees hustling through workouts Wednesday to prepare for Saturday's Senior Bowl all-star game.

The Yankees reacted with vigor to the cold snap and moved briskly through drills under the watchful eye of Coach Lou Saban of the Denver Broncos.

Saban again had quarterbacks Dennis Shaw of San Diego State and Chuck Burkhardt of Penn State working on passing despite the strong winds.

Coach Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts also devoted considerable time to the South's passing.

A major portion of the drills was spent on short passes by Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech and Bill Cappelman of Florida State, although both occasionally cut loose with a long one.

Eddie Ray of Louisiana State, Ted Koy of Texas and Larry Stegert of Texas A&M did most of the ball carrying in the running sessions.

The South squad named Bradshaw as captain on offense and The Citadel's John Small, a 6-4, 250-pound linebacker, to head the defense.

Rockets Lose Rick Alderman

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Rick Adelman of the San Diego Rockets will be out of action about a month with a severe groin muscle pull, the National Basketball Association team announced Wednesday.

Adelman aggravated the injury that has hampered him since a tournament and Grier was Rookie of the Year. They'll be invited.

"So that moves me up to fourth. That's good, but not good enough. If I won one, that would just about do it. That ought to clinch it. But we'll see."

Tar Heels Overpower N. Carolina

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nothing could be finer than to be North Carolina—especially with dead-eye Charlie Scott around to heat up a cold offense.

The All-American candidate shook off a miserable first half Wednesday night and guided the fourth-ranked Tar Heels from behind and to a 78-69 victory over previously unbeaten No. 10 ranked North Carolina State.

Meanwhile, No. 5 St. Bonaventure riddled Loyola of Baltimore 96-52 and No. 18 Duke checked Wake Forest 78-72 in overtime in the only other games involving the Associated Press' rated teams.

Scott managed only two of 10 shots from the field and five points in the first half as North Carolina State grabbed a 39-34 lead at intermission of the Atlantic Coast Conference test.

But then the spunky Scott went to work. He drilled in four straight—all from the outside—in powering the Tar Heels from a one-point deficit to a 62-55 advantage in a span of just about 30 seconds.

A few minutes later, the Tar Heels went into their four-corner offense, and the closest the Wolfpack got after that was 66-61 with 3:50 remaining and 70-65 with 1:42 to go. But, the Tar Heels choked off that least threat with four free throws and Scott's basket.

Scott finished with 23 points, while Vann Williford topped the losers with 20.

Loyola tried to stop St. Bonaventure's sharp-shooting Bob Lanier by placing three men on him in a collapsing zone—but it didn't work.

The 6-foot-11 center scored 29 points in addition to pulling in 24 rebounds before leaving the game with four minutes left.

The Bonnies shot to a quick 14-2 lead, built it to 44-22 at half-time, then put it out of doubt by outscoring the Greyhounds 21-4 early in the second half.

Duke used four straight free throws by John Posen in the overtime session to turn off Wake Forest's upset hopes.

Wake Forest led 38-37 at the half, and the score was tied nine times in the second half before the regulation game ended in a 66-66 deadlock. Posen then hit his charity tosses to put Duke in command.

Rick Katherman led the winners with 24 points and Randy Denton added 23. Charlie Davis was high for Wake Forest with 25.

In other games, Villanova beat Fairfield 87-50 and LaSalle stopped Syracuse 108-101 in a doubleheader at Philadelphia; Notre Dame roared past Fordham 94-76; Florida beat Alabama 79-70; Georgia Tech sailed past Clemson 96-84; and DePaul escaped Xavier, Ohio 73-71.

Dave Osborn Not Fancy But Effective

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dave Osborn is one of those rare birds; a runner who made all the way back from knee surgery to become the heavy duty ground threat of a National Football League champion.

"I'm not one of those fancy guys," said Osborn before a Minnesota Vikings' workout for Sunday's Super Bowl game with the American Football League champs from Kansas City. "I don't have those fancy moves. I just hit into a guy, hoping to slide or roll off him and spin."

For those who missed the Vikings' playoff victories over Los Angeles and Cleveland, Osborn is the fellow who dived in for two scores against the Rams and rumbled 26 yards, shedding tacklers, for a clincher against the Browns.

The former North Dakota University star from Cando, N.D., a population 1,700, led the Vikings with 643 yards in 186 carries for seven touchdowns and also caught 22 passes for 236 yards and one score in the regular season.

In the training camp of 1968, following his brilliant 372-yard season in 1967 when he was second to Leroy Kelly for the rushing title, it appeared it might be all over for Osborn.

Attempting to catch a pass for a two-point conversion against Denver, when they were experimenting with the two-point play, he damaged his left knee. Osborn caught the pass and also ran a sweet on another conversion before he realized the extent of the injury. Even then, they thought it was minor and the operation was not performed until four

N.Y. Knicks Seem to Be Team to Beat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks, often seen unaware that there is supposed to be a home court advantage, but they continue to be kings of the road.

New York edged San Francisco 99-94 Wednesday night for their second straight road victory and 18th in 20 attempts away from home this season. They are 17-7 at home.

The victory kept the Knicks 6½ games ahead of the second-place Milwaukee Bucks in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division. The Bucks belted Cincinnati 138-119 for their 12th victory in 14 games.

In other games, Baltimore downed Detroit 121-116 and Atlanta shaded Boston 112-106 in a doubleheader at Boston.

The New York Nets outlasted Pittsburgh 133-124, Denver topped Washington 128-119 and Dallas outlasted Los Angeles 114-112 in the American Basketball Association.

Walt Frazier collected four points in the last three minutes in New York's comeback victory over San Francisco. Frazier's free throw put the Knicks ahead for good 80-88 with 2:45 to go.

New York opened a 15-point lead in the second period but scored only 14 points in the third quarter. The Warriors went in front 74-70 before the Knicks rallied late in the game.

Jeff Mullins of San Francisco led all scorers with 29 points while Dick Barnett topped the Knicks with 25.

Milwaukee opened up a 20-point lead, but Cincinnati outscored the Bucks 27-7 during one stretch of the third period to cut the gap to nine. However, the Bucks then opened the fourth quarter with a 16-4 spurt that put the game out of reach.

Flynn Robinson gunned in 36 points, Bob Dandridge 31 and Lew Alcindor 27 for Milwaukee. Fred Foster topped Cincinnati with 32 points as star Oscar Robertson sat out about half the game and finished with only 12.

Jim Davis put Western Division-leading Atlanta ahead to stay, 104-103, and then, with the score 106-104, he blocked a shot. Bill Bridges scored 30 points for the Hawks. John Havlicek paced the Celtics with 28.

Two clutch baskets and a steal by Earl Monroe in the closing minutes paved the way for Baltimore's victory over Detroit. Monroe finished with 28 points, while Detroit's Jimmy Walker was high for the game with 31.

Curt Flood Expected to Play Ball

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — General Manager John Quinn of the Philadelphia Phillies still expects to have Curt Flood in his outfield this season despite Flood's threat to sue baseball over the controversial reserve clause.

Quinn said he met with Flood in New York before Flood disclosed he would contest the legality of the reserve clause. They had dinner together, Quinn said, and Flood identified himself to a young lady as an outfielder for the Phillies and introduced Quinn as general manager and vice president of his (Flood's) club.

Quinn said he would send Flood a contract Jan. 15, along with other members of the Phillies. He said Flood would earn at least as much as he was paid by the St. Louis Cardinals, a reported $90,000. Flood was traded by the Cardinals to the Phillies several months ago. At first, Flood said he would retire, then decided to contest the reserve clause which binds a player to his club.

Flood's request to be made a free agent was denied by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, prompting Flood's threat to take the case to court. Kuhn said Wednesday here that it is his impression that baseball does not feel it can give ground on the reserve clause.

Flood's last season in the majors was 1965, just before the season later, just before the season later, just before the season later.

"It's a mental thing at first," he said. "You wonder what will happen when you get hit. In practice you make the full cut and wonder if your leg will buckle. You don't have time to worry if a game."

"I have no problem with it. I still lift weights with the left leg four or five times a week. I think it actually is stronger now than the other leg."

Johnny Buck and Phil Esposito—Tony's older brother—powered Boston with two goals each against Oakland. Buck's goals were the 29th and 30th of his NHL career. Both only, the league's leading scorers, assisted on both of Esposito's goals.

Bill Howe tallied Oakland's lone goal in the second period to spoil Ed Johnston's shutout. The victory enabled the Bruins to remain undefeated against West Division foes.

Jerry West Heads West All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West, the Los Angeles Lakers' dead-eye shooter, will head up the starting lineup for the Western Division team that faces the East in the National Basketball Association All-Star game Jan. 20 in Philadelphia.

Also named as West starters Wednesday were forwards Connie Hawkins of Phoenix and Elgin Baylor of the Lakers, center Nate Thurmond of San Francisco and guard Lou Hudson of Atlanta.

Forward Chet Walker of Chicago, center Elvin Hayes of San Diego and guard Jeff Mullins of San Francisco were named as reserves.

West, the NBA's leading scorer, was the top vote-getter in the balloting by broadcasters and sportscasters and sports writers in the 14 NBA cities, drawing 13,750 points out of a possible 14.

The starting East team, announced earlier, will be forwards Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and John Havlicek of Boston, center Willis Reed of New York and guards Walt Frazier of New York and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

Also chosen were forward Gus Johnson of Baltimore, center Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and guard Hal Greer of Philadelphia.

The 14 NBA coaches will complete the selection of the 12-man squads later this week.

Republican Legislator Fights Tax

Slain Labor Chief Allies Get Threats

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
CLARKSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Investigators say two close allies of the late Joseph A. "Joe" Yablonski have received threatening telephone calls since the slayings of the United Mine Workers union reformer, his wife and daughter.

State police said Wednesday the first report came from Marjorie Pellegrini, an official of UMW District 5 from nearby Canonsburg. Later, Elmer Brown, a Delbarton, W. Va., coal miner who was Yablonski's vice presidential running mate in the union's recent presidential election, said he had reported a threat to the FBI.

Pellegrini, who was questioned by four FBI agents, said his wife received a call from a man at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday. The caller simply said, "Warning. You're next," and hung up, he said.

"We don't know whether this is a crank call or not but we're keeping patrols in the area," said Capt. Joseph Snyder, the trooper in charge of the investigation.

Pellegrini said he was sure the caller meant the threat. "I take this seriously," he said. "No job is worth a person's life, especially if it is a threat to a person's family."

Brown said he received a telephone call a few days ago "telling me to mind my own business." He described it as "more or less a warning," saying he didn't take it too seriously. In his report to the FBI Brown asked that top officials of the UMW be given lie detector tests to clear themselves of the slayings, which were discovered Monday.

The request, similar to one made Tuesday night in West Virginia by Dr. Hawley Wells, a crusader for coal mine safety, was the latest in a series of inferences that the slayings were connected to the hotly contested December election which Yablonski lost to incumbent W. A. "Tony" Boyle.

Snyder called the request "unrealistic." "Our investigations would have to point to someone before such tests would be valid," he said.

State Upsets No.1 Team, Ky. Wesleyan

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas State Indians repelled a late bid by Kentucky Wesleyan and upset the nation's top-ranked small college team 88-84 Wednesday night.

Guard Allen Pruett made four free throws with less than a minute left to clinch the Indians' victory after the Panthers had moved to within a point of a tie. Kentucky Wesleyan had trailed by 13 points at one point in the second half and was down by 10 points with 10 minutes to play.

David Erwin hit 12 of his last 14 shots to lead the Panther surge. He finished with 25 points while teammate Gene Smith had 18.

Arkansas State held a 43-40 halftime lead as the Indians improved their record to 5-4. The Panthers are 8-2.

Pruett led the Indian attack with 25 points. Freshman Steve Brooks, making his first start, had 16. John Belcher had 21 and Ben Johnson 16 for the Indians.

Teamates Say Dawson Is Innocent

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — What's it like to be in Lenny Dawson's shoes at this very moment, preparing for the Super Bowl game while trying to forget about having your name associated with a nationwide gambling investigation?

Only Lenny Dawson knows for sure and, as is his nature, he is keeping it within.

But Tom Flores, Dawson's teammate with the Kansas City Chiefs and himself a veteran quarterback, is qualified to step into Dawson's shoes and takes a guess. And he did today.

"I'm sure all this week the thing will be on his mind," said Flores, "because no one will let him forget about it—the press, the fans."

"If I was innocent I'd be a little disturbed because of the implications. It would upset me a little. But I wouldn't worry about it because I'd feel clean. If I was guilty it would probably upset me more. But I'm sure Lenny isn't guilty."

"The thing that disturbs me is how open athletes are to this type thing because we are so much in the public eye. If you even get your name mentioned in the same paragraph with a gambler or relative to gambling, there are a lot of people who will be biased against you from then on."

Dawson will have to carry that realization throughout the remainder of the week as he prepares for the Super Bowl Sunday that sends his American Football League championship club against the National Football League champion Minnesota Vikings—because his name has been mentioned.

U.S. Reprisal on Private Schools Seen

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Potential trouble loomed today for the private schools springing up in Mississippi areas reacting to court-imposed desegregation.

Robert H. Finch, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), announced in Washington he will try to stop tax benefits for private schools formed to evade segregation.

"This is another example of Nixon's blooming Southern strategy," said W. J. Simmons of Jackson, national director of the Citizens Councils of America.

The council operates three schools in the Jackson area and Simmons said it plans to establish several more next fall.

Gov. John Bell Williams said about 100 private schools were being formed in the 30 Mississippi school districts which the U. S. Supreme Court ordered to fully desegregate.

Seven districts reopened classes under the desegregation plans Wednesday. Nineteen of the 30 have resumed classes since the Christmas holiday, with varying degrees of enrollment. The rest were expected to be open by Monday. No incidents were reported. The announcement by Finch conflicts with Department of Justice actions. The department is defending private school tax benefits in law suits filed by the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee in Mississippi and the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law in Washington.

Both organizations challenged the tax benefits as unconstitutional.

The Treasury Department ruled in 1967 that private schools, even though designed to maintain segregation, were entitled to exempt status as long as they were not direct instruments of state policy.

Elderly Have Tax Advantages

By RAY DE CRANE

Disburied by Enterprise Press

Senior Citizen status does not enjoy as many tax advantages as it once did. Now that medical expense deductions are the same for everybody regardless of age, but there are three principal ways in which they may still claim preferential treatment.

1. An extra $600 exemption starting with the year in which they turn 65.

2. An opportunity to escape taxes completely or at least to minimize the tax on the profitable sale of their home after they are 65.

3. The possibility of enjoying a Retirement Income Credit which could materially reduce the amount of tax otherwise to be owed.

Income tax filing time is no time to shy about your age. If you were 65 by Jan. 1, 1970, don't be hesitant about checking the "65 or over" block on your Form 1040 and getting that additional exemption.

Once all waves should not be hesitant about claiming the extra exemption, but their husbands should be cautious. This applies to married couples where the husband is over 65 and the wife is under 65. The husband can claim the exemption, but the wife cannot. If the wife is over 65, she can claim the exemption, but the husband cannot.

From a tax standpoint, after reaching 65, the husband should be the one to claim the exemption, but the wife should be the one to claim the exemption.

and upon the selling price the profit on the sale is either completely or partially free from tax.

To qualify for this tax break, it may be claimed only once the home must have been owned by you and used as your principal residence for at least five of the eight years prior to the sale.

If the adjusted sales price of the home (gross selling price less the total of "fixing-up" expenses and selling expenses) is $20,000 or less there is no tax on the profit, no matter how large it is.

If the adjusted sales price is more than $20,000, the amount of the gain which is tax-free is the ratio between $20,000 and the adjusted sales price. For example, if the adjusted sales price was $40,000, two-thirds of the gain would be free of tax. The remaining one-third would be reported as a long-term capital gain, on which only half would be taxed.

The third and most important tax advantage for senior citizens is the Retirement Income Credit. This credit, computed on the basis of the new Social Security tax, is a credit for the tax paid on the retirement income.

To be eligible to claim the credit, you must have retirement income (it could be from pensions and annuities, interest, dividends or gross rents) and you must have received earned income in excess of $600 in each of any 10 years prior to retirement.

The maximum retirement income to be subject to the 15 per cent credit is $1,524 for each spouse if both meet the prior earned income requirement or $2,286 on a joint return where one of the spouses had no prior earned income.

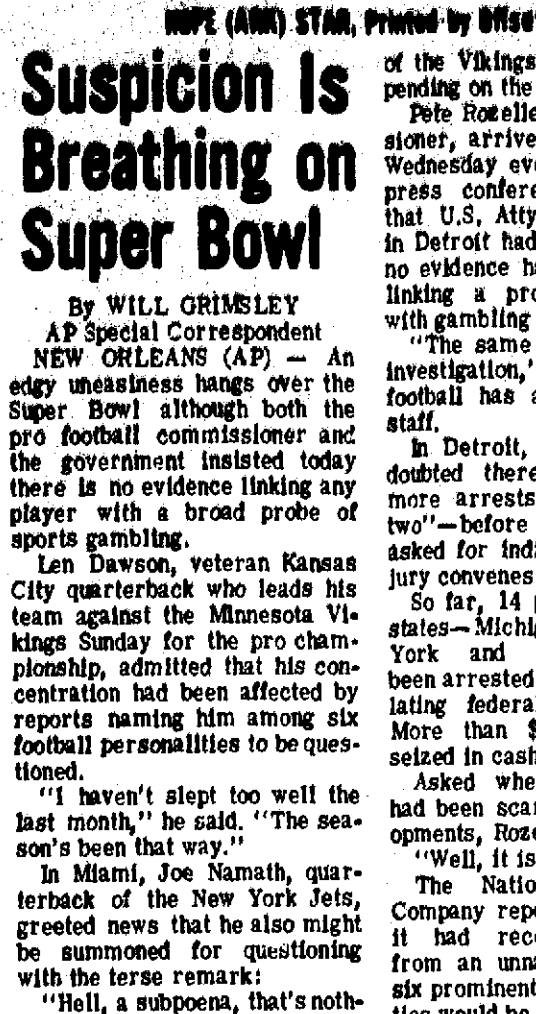

In community property states, retirement income is community income, one-half of which is reported by each spouse. This permits the wife to claim a Retirement Income Credit on her separate return even though she has not met the prior earned income test.

The retirement income is reduced in two steps before the 15 per cent credit is applied. First, a reduction is for Social Security and Railroad Retirement Act benefits received during the year. The second is for a portion of earned income.

When it doesn't apply, an additional credit, taxpayable and added, should at least have a pass at Schedule R before filing his tax return. The savings could be substantial.

(NEXT) The tax break on dividends.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Welfare Department today announced that it will begin making federal school districts, including two in Texas, that it is taking more enforcement actions that could lead to a cut off of federal funds for the state.

The two Arkansas districts were Choctaw County and the Delta School District. The department said it was suspending eligibility of 34 federal school districts to receive federal funds.

The Welfare Department cut federal aid to the Georgia school districts that refused to integrate their schools. The districts were warned by the federal court in Dec. 17 to desegregate their systems.

The department's Office of Civil Rights estimates that 100 federal funds will be earmarked for the Georgia districts during a full year.

In a separate action, the Welfare Department notified Southern school districts taking formal enforcement actions which could lead to a cut off of federal funds for full desegregation.

Asked whether the football ban had been arranged by the developments, Roelle said:

"Well, it isn't healthy."

The National Broadcasting Company said today that it received information from an unnamed official that six prominent football personalities would be questioned.

Farm Belt Demands Aid Cut Reversal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A campaign has developed among farm belt congressmen to force the Nixon administration to reverse its attitude on budget-lightening decisions canceling advance payments to farmers this year for idling extra land from livestock feed production.

The House Agriculture Committee, which has approved the advance payments, made annually since 1961, have ranged up to about $400 million a year.

Farmers collected the money for such efforts after agreeing to take additional acres of livestock feed grains, mostly corn and sorghum, out of production.

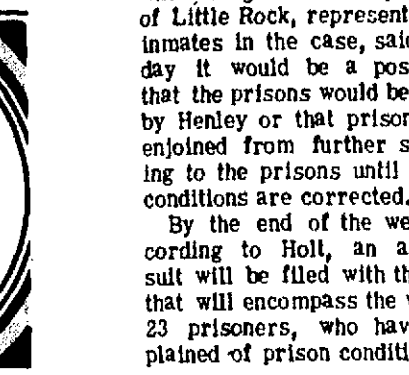

Hardin announced at a Dec. 29 news conference no advance payments would be made. "We do not anticipate any reaction," he said then.

The primary complaints as outlined by Holt stem from facilities at the prison, Correction Commissioner Robert Suran said. He said that the complaints are justified.

He said that one of the major questions to be decided in the suit, which may start a national test case, is whether the prison system and the guarding of inmates by other armed prisoners.

Holt said the trusty system is the working of prisoners up to 30 hours a week at hard labor without an compensation may be found to constitute involuntary servitude.

He said that the inmates nothing to the people other than to roof over their head, a bed in which to work, rough bedding and clothing which is many times better than the outside.

Holt has found that beatings are still going on at the prison and he attributes them to the bad system.

The trusty system, which will also be questioned, houses about 200 men in a unit with sometimes less than a foot be-

Driving Costs? Man, It Costs Just to Sit Still

By CARLTON SMITH and RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT

As a test of your inflation awareness, check below your estimate of the yearly cost of owning a popular, medium-priced eight-cylinder automobile with standard accessories and automatic transmission, and driving it 10,000 miles during the year. The figure includes depreciation, figured on the most advantageous trade-in schedule:

—$746; —$963; —$1,488.

According to the American Automobile Association, it was the largest figure, $1,488, in 1969 for the 10,000 miles that the average motorist puts on his car each year. That's a big jump from the figures of two and three years ago.

The depreciation figure, says the AAA, is the average annual cost "predicated on car trade-in at the end of three years or 60,000 miles, whichever point occurs first. This is the approximate duration of the most economical service period, during which the car is expected to deliver the greatest overall cost economy."

The variable costs average, per mile:

Gas & oil	2.76 cents
Maintenance	.68 cents
Tires	.51 cents
Total	3.95 cents

That's based on the average driver's 10,000 miles per year. If you roll up twice that mileage, add $15 per thousand miles to your depreciation costs.

Fixed costs remain the same, so while total cost for the 20,000-mile driver goes up, his cost per mile drops by almost 50 per cent:

20,000 miles at 3.95 cents	$ 790
Fixed annual cost	1,053
Plus $150 depreciation	150
Total	$1,993

Per-mile cost for the year comes to 9.96 cents, in contrast to 14.5 cents for the 10,000-mile driver.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

drive to the store and back, even though you're consuming only 1.10 gallon of gas.

The AAA calculations are based on extensive tests of driving under a variety of road conditions. Here's the way the yearly cost breaks down.

Fixed annual costs include:

Fire & theft insurance	$ 44
$100 deduct. collision ins.	102
Liability, $100/300/25M	154
License & registration	24
Depreciation	729
Total	$1,053

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Best to Avoid All X Rays During a Pregnancy

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What month of pregnancy is it harmful to the fetus to have X rays?

A—The greatest danger to the fetus is exposure to X rays in the first three months of its development. But a pregnant woman should avoid X rays of her hips and abdomen throughout her pregnancy unless the information to be gained is of vital importance.

Q—When an artificial insemination is performed, how does the doctor keep the sperm alive and healthy until they can be implanted?

A—Sperm kept at body temperature remain active for about 24 hours. They may also be preserved by quick freezing.

Q—When I was 6, I had scarlet fever. Could this make me sterile?

A—No.

Q—Is it possible for a woman to become pregnant after having an ovary removed?

A—Yes, if one good ovary remains.

Q—How safe and effective are home devices for removing unwanted hairs by electrolysis?

A—Although electrolysis is safe and effective in the hands of a skilled operator, it is not recommended for home use. It may produce scarring, infection or spots of increased pigmentation. Furthermore, a few of the treated hairs will grow out again even after electrolysis by the best of operators. An inexperienced operator will not know the exact location of the hair follicles, their depth and direction nor the exact amount of current to use.

Q—What is the best treatment for the malabsorption syndrome?

A—This syndrome includes nutritional sprue and similar conditions. The standard treatment is a bland, low-fat, gluten-free diet. Gluten is found in wheat, barley, rye and sometimes oats. Vitamin and iron supplements are usually given. In some victims there is an associated zinc deficiency, in which case small doses of zinc are helpful. A recent study indicates that the bulk-free, concentrated liquid diet fed to astronauts is well-tolerated by persons with this syndrome.

Q—What are the uses and side effects of the drug, manganese?

A—Manganese is a metallic element that is found in minute amounts in the body. Although some manganese salts have been used as blood builders they are now considered obsolete. No dietary deficiency of this element in human beings has been reported.

Reply From Biloxi; Story of Disaster on Tampa Bay Bridge

Editor The Star: Your thoughtfulness in sending the December 30, 1969, issue of the Hope Star is much appreciated. We are very interested in the fine photograph of the Episcopal Church here in Biloxi and would like to purchase six copies of it. Please bill us at the above post office address and we will see that you receive the payment immediately. We would like to have the photographs uncropped, if possible.

Your story on the Coast reflected your sincere sympathy and understanding of our devastated area. Thank you and please express our gratitude to the many people who assisted us in our time of need. Sincerely yours,

Biloxi, Miss., 39533

Editor's Note: The pictures of the ruined Episcopal church building will be furnished as requested—gratis. Anticipating there might be such requests we saved our 35mm. negative and now will get up the extra prints.

The Biloxi letter recalls something I missed telling you about although it was in my notes on December's Florida trip.

It's the story of an engineering disaster at the great bridge which spans Tampa Bay, carrying U.S. 19 south to Bradenton, Sarasota, Fort Myers and Naples down the West Coast.

The original bridge, with clearance of more than 150 feet for the tallest ocean-going ships, is part of a causeway across Tampa Bay that cuts the road mileage from Sarasota to St. Petersburg about one-third, to 32 miles.

On my previous Florida trip, in June 1968, I found a second causeway completed and workmen were busy putting the central span in place on the second bridge—to create a divided highway across Tampa Bay.

But on last month's trip I found the center span on the second bridge being dismantled—and, considering that a year and a half had passed, I knew there had been serious engineering trouble.

Serious isn't the word for it. Just as workmen were completing the center span on the new bridge engineers discovered a disastrous crack in one of the piers supporting the span. So the span had to be removed and a replacement pier constructed.

You could scarcely blame it on the engineers. A bridge-building subsidiary of U.S. Steel constructed the first bridge, which was a brilliant achievement, and I presume the same outfit built the duplicate bridge alongside, ending in disaster and a costly replacement.

All bridge piers in the Florida sand go down to bed-rock. Something shuddered, however, and the good luck that rode with the engineers on their first try deserted them when they tried to repeat.

When the second bridge will be ready for tourists is anyone's guess. All I know is that when I was down there last month traffic was using the second causeway, then switching to the first bridge for the jump across the ship channel.

Mena Protests Failure of Gas

MENA, Ark. (AP) — Mena residents were reported Wednesday to have shown an interest in switching to propane gas after suffering for 10 hours in freezing temperatures Tuesday without natural gas.

A spokesman for one company said his firm was receiving a few inquiries about switching to propane gas and a spokesman for another firm said there had been "considerable interest" in switching.

R. H. St. John, editor of the Mena Weekly Star, said Wednesday that Mena residents became angry when natural gas was turned off because the gas pressure fell to low Tuesday morning.

"Nobody has felt like talking about it too much," St. John said.

Avalanche of Good Resolutions Melts After New Year's Day

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of people already have had resolutions, although 1970 is only a week old.

They feel guilty, are shame-faced, and can hardly look their fellow man in the eye.

This is because they have already broken a raft of good resolutions they made just a week ago. Seeking to perfect themselves all at once, in a burst of rash enthusiasm they pledged themselves to high resolves that even a cautious angel in heaven would fear to vow.

If all your good resolutions are negative, they may be more harmful than helpful. You must balance them with positive resolutions. A negative resolution is one in which you declare you'll quit doing something that is wrong or bad for you. A positive resolution is one by which you pledge to do something that is good for you.

In any case, the resolution, negative or positive, must be one which is humanly possible for you to keep.

Here, for example, are some constructive, negative resolutions you might start with:

To cease accepting free $1 cigars from total strangers.

To quit volunteering to act as co-signer on loans for office gamblers.

To give up the eating of potpourri after midnight.

To refrain from using any toothbrush at home unless you are particularly sure it is your very own.

To stop running your wife's car.

Franchise System Under U.S. Attack

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress in Minnie Pearl of the Grand Ole Opry will be there. And sitting next to her may be Johnny Carson, Joe Namath, Mickey Mantle and Pat Boone.

All are players in a multi-billion-dollar-a-year "game" — the franchise industry.

All have been asked to be witnesses in three days of congressional hearings beginning Jan. 20. So far only Minnie Pearl has accepted.

The eventual outcome could be federal regulation of an industry whose $90 billion annual sales accounts for 10 per cent of the Gross National Product.

Senate investigators laying the groundwork for the hearings say they have found some evidence of fraud and questionable business practices within the still growing industry.

More than 600,000 franchisees are operating in the United States today, licensed by some 1,000 different franchisors of everything from service stations to fried chicken and tacos stands.

"The concept of business franchising has been around for a long time, but all of a sudden it's taken off like a big bird and nobody knows which way it's going to fly," says Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J.

Williams says his subcommittee on urban and rural economic development "will attempt to unwrap the entire franchising package for the benefit of all concerned."

Some abuses uncovered by committee investigators, according to general counsel Tim Ford, are unrestricted competition through over-franchising in certain geographic areas, lack of promised management help to the individual franchisee and unfair contract clauses that leave the buyer of the franchise at the mercy of the parent firm.

In addition to the personalities whose names publicize some franchises — here's Johnny roast beef restaurants, Minnie Pearl's fried chicken restaurants and Broadway Joe's restaurant — other witnesses invited are from the Federal Trade Commission, the Small Business Administration and the International Franchise Association.

Gold Wave Grips Entire United States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bitter-cold weather numbed almost the entire nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic today and dropped temperatures near zero in parts of the deep South.

Utility companies in the Midwest and South reported record amounts of gas and electricity were being used. The cold snapped power lines in scattered areas.

The Weather Bureau saw little prospect of any immediate widespread relief from subzero cold which settled into the mid-continent Sunday and spread over more of the country each day since.

Freezing temperatures were common in 47 of the 48 continental states. In California freezing temperatures were confined to the higher mountains.

The mercury fell to zero or lower from the northern and central Rockies through the Great Lakes region and into New England and south into the lower half of the Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures failed to rise above zero Wednesday in portions of 12 states. Winds of 15 to 20 miles an hour sharpened the cold and drove it over much of the Southeast.

Atlanta residents shivered in an early-morning temperature of 9 above zero. Readings in the teens reached south into northern Florida.

The Tennessee Valley Authority boosted its electrical power output to an all-time high of 15,687,000 kilowatts Wednesday to meet demands.

The Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America reported at Chicago that it piped a 24-hour record 4 1/2 billion cubic feet of gas to distributor-customers in the Midwest by Wednesday afternoon.

Commonwealth Edison Co. said it had a record 24-hour delivery of electricity for its users.

'Fair Trade' Liquor Law Attacked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Frank Watson, a Little Rock lawyer, has been hired to pursue a taxpayer's suit attacking the constitutionality of the state's "fair-trade" liquor law.

Watson is with the Cockrill, Laser, McGehee, Sharp and Boswell firm.

The suit was filed in Chancery Court last May 13 by Howard Watson, program director for radio station KMYO. The lawyer for the suit was Nathan L. Schoenfeld of Hot Springs, who since has become critically ill.

The "fair-trade" law fixes the minimum markup on liquor at 13 per cent above cost for wholesale dealers and 30 per cent above the cost for retail dealers.

The state Supreme Court upheld the law in a previous test suit in 1950. Watson's suit contends that "whatever reasons caused the ruling of the Supreme Court in that case, they no longer apply."

Watson said Wednesday that he would appeal any lower court decision upholding the law.

Collector Quits Under a Cloud

LONGOKE, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Floyd Abbott, Lonoke County tax collector, presented a letter of resignation Wednesday to Lonoke County Judge C. H. Benfield.

The records of her office were ordered impounded Monday by Circuit Court Judge Joe Rhodes of Stuttgart after three Lonoke County cities said they had not received full tax settlements due before last December 30.

The three cities were Cabot, Lonoke and Carlisle.

Rhodes said in his impounding order that there were "reasons to believe there possibly may be a discrepancy in the books, records, accounts and documents of the Lonoke County collector's office."

H. Thrash Elected C of C President

HUBERT THRASH

Hubert Thrash, office manager for Tol-E-Tex Oil Co., has been elected president of the Hope-Hempstead County Chamber of Commerce for 1970. Vice-presidents elected were Dr. Don Frest, Albert Zimmermann, Will Rutherford and J.W. Rowe. Charles Sharpe Jr. is the new treasurer.

The first meeting of the board of directors for the new year was held Tuesday evening, Jan. 6, at which time plans for the annual meeting and banquet were discussed.

The banquet is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Jan. 20, at the Fair Park Coliseum. Other items of business were the passing of a resolution supporting the Standard Generator bond election on Tuesday, Feb. 3, and the reading and approving of a program of work for 1970.

Mr. Thrash expressed his appreciation to the board members for their interest in the chamber program and urged them to make a special effort to attend all meetings throughout the year.

Israeli Jets Strike on 3 Fronts

By MARCUS ELLISON
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets swung into action on three Arab fronts today, downing three Syrian planes, striking at Egyptian military targets and pounding guerrilla bases in Lebanon, the Israeli military command said.

The Syrian planes, Soviet-made MIG21s, were intercepted as they tried to attack Israeli positions in the occupied Golan Heights. A spokesman said the dogfight took place at altitudes ranging from "very low" up to 20,000 feet.

Israel now claims to have shot down 17 Syrian planes since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, including three MIGs during an Israeli bombing mission into Syria last month.

Other Israeli aircraft roved over the southern and central Suez Canal, hammering Egyptian war objectives in two raids lasting a total of almost two hours, the Israelis said.

Planes also swept into southern Lebanon to bomb and strafe Arab guerrilla camps on the western slopes of Mt. Hermon, the military reported. It was the second raid on Mt. Hermon in three days.

Israel said its planes returned safely from all missions.

No Tear Gas Used in Raid on Panthers

By DEBORAH RANKIN
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The leader of a police raid which resulted in the fatal shooting of two Black Panther party members says he did not use tear gas to clear the apartment because it was unavailable.

Sgt. Daniel Groth testified at an inquest into the deaths of Fred Hampton, 21, head of the Illinois Panther party, and Mark Clark, 22, a Peoria leader.

Groth directed the Dec. 4 raid on Hampton's West Side apartment to serve a search warrant for illegal weapons. He was accompanied by 13 state's attorney's police, five of whom were black. Groth is white.

He testified that his men gathered in his office an hour before the 5 a.m. raid to arm themselves for the assignment. Their weapons included a submachine gun, a carbine, and four shotguns in addition to several handguns, the officer added.

Martin S. Gerber, a lawyer selected to serve as deputy coroner conducting the inquest, said the firearms seemed to be "extraordinary weapons" to

5 Girl Friends to Describe Last Night of Mary Jo's Life

By JOSEPH MOHBAT
Associated Press Writer
EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Five young women whom tragedy has jolted from obscurity returned to an old county courthouse on a wintry island today to tell what they remember about the last night in the life of a friend, Mary Jo Koepchne.

The girls are Rosemary Keough, 24, of Drexel Hill, Pa.; Maryellen Lyons, 26, of Milton, Mass.; her sister, Nancy, 25, Susan Tenenbaum, 24, and Esther Newberg, 27, all of Washington, D.C.

Like Mary Jo, all five worked for the late Robert F. Kennedy during his ill-fated presidential campaign.

Nancy Lyons is now on the staff of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, whose car carried Mary Jo, 28, to her death in a plunge into a Chappaquiddick Island tidal pond the night of July 18.

For some 20 hours over the first three days of the inquest, other witnesses took their turns in a guarded courtroom as 63-year-old Judge James A. Boyle tried to decide whether her death was caused by any act which might call for criminal proceedings.

One witness Wednesday was John Farrar, the skindiver who recovered Miss Koepchne's body. Before the inquest began, he had said publicly he thought an air pocket in the car might have permitted her survival if help had come quickly. Kennedy delayed nine hours in reporting the accident.

Whether Boyle permitted Farrar to repeat this opinion from the witness stand was not known. If it did get into the

Showdown on Welfare Bill, Veto Certain

By WALTER E. MEANS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, the Republican whip, says there is no prospect Congress will yield to the White House to avert a veto of the $16.7 billion health, education and welfare appropriation bill.

The Michigan senator anticipates a veto, President Nixon's first, and he expects enough Republicans to get in step to uphold the administration.

Even as Griffin worked to round up Republican votes against the appropriation, first order of business when the Senate reconvenes Jan. 19, he acknowledged the measure undoubtedly will go to the President as now drafted.

The White House has said if Nixon gets the bill unchanged, it absolutely will be vetoed because the administration considers it inflationary.

"I just don't know how you could change it now," Griffin said in an interview.

The measure awaiting Senate action is a compromise already approved by the House. To change it, the Senate would have to reject the compromise, presumably in favor of new negotiating sessions with House draftsmen.

A single Senate roll call would send the bill to the President and the threatened veto.

The veto would face action first in the House, which originated the bill. "They would have a good chance of sustaining the President there," Griffin said.

But a veto would put nearly half the Republicans in the House in a difficult position—they voted twice for the $1.25 billion increase Nixon objects to.

Eighty-six House Republicans left camp in the squabble between the GOP administration and the powerful education lobby that got the funds added originally to the bill.

It takes a two-thirds vote in both the House and Senate to override. House action probably would come late this month if there is a veto. The last time a presidential veto was overridden was 10 years ago when Dwight D. Eisenhower was unable to kill a federal pay raise bill.

If the House should fail to override the President, then the veto would be upheld without any Senate action. In such a case, Congress would have to try again to come up with an acceptable funding bill for HEW.

Griffin said party loyalty should sway GOP members of Congress to back the veto, even those who might vote for the appropriation Nixon considers too expensive.

Professors Object to WR's 'List'

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Conference of University Professors Wednesday said Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's list of campus militants was "an inhibition to healthy dissent."

The AAUP condemned the compilation of the list of persons considered to be campus militants in a statement released by E. E. Hudson of Russellville, Arkansas AAUP president. Hudson said the proper place to handle law violations was the courts.

"The existence of such a list serves as an inhibition to healthy dissent—healthy dissent on which our country was founded," the statement said.

The statement said the AAUP was confident that Arkansas could handle those who violate the law on Arkansas college campuses.

"In the case of the governor's list, the names are supplied vicariously and these individuals whose names are included have been judged using arbitrary criteria," the statement said.

It said there was no appeal from the governor's list.

"We fear such listing of individuals might jeopardize the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech and lawful dissent," the statement said.

FBI Report Mafia in N.J. Politics

By BOB DUBILL
ASSOCIATED PRESS Writer
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Widespread Mafia infiltration of New Jersey police and politics — to the point of allegedly influencing selection of a state police head — are portrayed in FBI transcripts of electronic eavesdropping filed in federal court here.

Twelve volumes covering four years of recording name dozens of public personalities including singer Frank Sinatra, Mayor Hugh Addonizio and Police Director Dominick Spina, of Newark, State Police Supt. David B. Kelly and former Supt. Dominick Capello, powerful Democratic leader John V. Kenny, and state Democratic Chairman Salvatore Bontempo.

The transcripts, produced Tuesday in the extortion trial of reputed Mafia boss Angelo "Gyp" DeCarlo, tell of payoffs to public officials, loansharking and gambling operations, skim-offs from Las Vegas gambling — even infiltration of the telephone company and the Masonic lodge.

The transcripts were made public by U.S. Judge Robert F. Shaw over vigorous defense objections. Shaw reserved decision on whether they could be used as evidence in the trial.

Among highlights of the documents:

State police — An FBI memorandum said "It appeared that Kenny had Capello appointed state police superintendent through Gov. Richard J. Hughes at DeCarlo's request. Kenny also has agreed to have Capt. David Kelly appointed superintendent to succeed Capello at DeCarlo's request."

Payoffs-Capello and Spina are named as having received payments. The transcripts also talk of payments to Middlesex county police and David T. Wilentz, county Democratic leader.

Election-DeCarlo raised money for Addonizio before his election as Newark mayor in 1961 after 14 years as a congressman. The transcripts indicate DeCarlo and associates worked to get Michael "Mickey" Bontempo, brother of the state Democratic chairman, out of the race.

Sinatra-Harold "Kayo" Konigsberg, a Bayonne loanshark now in prison, talked with DeCarlo about getting money for Janine hotel if there were a possibility of gambling. Konigsberg is quoted: "I'll see Sinatra and have a talk with him." Sinatra is fighting a subpoena and an arrest warrant from the State Investigations Commission which called him in its inquiry into crime.

Addonizio-In one of many references to dealings with Newark's mayor, DeCarlo is quoted: "Hughie helped us along. He gave us the city." Addonizio was recently indicted on extortion and income tax evasion charges.

Las Vegas-DeCarlo is quoted as saying DeCarlo "Jerry" Capello, reputed head of a Mafia group, received $175,000 from "bookings" of Las Vegas casinos. A skim-off is alleged diversion of casino profits.

Kenny-Among several references to the Democratic strongman, the late Joseph "Little Joe" DeBenedictis, an Essex County political figure, is quoted as telling DeCarlo: "If we get this deal—if Kenny owns this deal with the point on the New Jersey Turnpike—we're in. He was quoted as figuring a 25 per cent profit on $1 million worth of point."

The transcripts quote Anthony "Little Pussy" Russo, a Mafia figure, as saying he had "a connection" in the telephone company who tipped him when law officials investigated possible bookmaking telephone. "This guy—I got him on the payroll—I give him $100 a month."

Peanut butter is one of the most nutritious foods known to man. It was invented by a doctor in St. Louis in 1890 during his search for a high-protein food for his patients. Since then, Americans alone have consumed hundreds of thousands of tons of this creamy or crunchy concoction.

When counting the food pennies, include peanut butter recipes. A chewy dessert is chocolate-swirled peanut butter brownies.

CHOCOLATE-SWIRLED PEANUT BUTTER BROWNIES

3/4 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
4 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 squares (2 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate, melted over hot water

Cream peanut butter and butter until soft and creamy. Gradually blend in sugar and brown sugar. Beat in eggs one at a time. Stir in vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add all at once and beat until smooth and well-blended. Spread mixture into a greased and floured 13x9x2-inch pan. Drizzle melted chocolate over the top of the batter. With the tip of a knife swirl the chocolate into batter. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until brownies feel firm to the touch. Cool in pan and then cut into squares. Makes 1 pan 9x13x2-inch.

Tunney's Son Seeks Senate Seat

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — John V. Tunney, a tall attorney with lots of energy, an engaging smile and five years of experience as a congressman, launches today a quest for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

The 35-year-old son of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney hopes to win the primary in June, then unseat in November the Republican incumbent, former movie star George Murphy, 67, who says he'll seek a second term.

Tunney's theme: "California needs leaders of action and commitment," and Murphy is a "do-nothing" senator.

Who is John Varick Tunney? Who indeed, the average Californian might have asked a year ago. But in the last 12 months Tunney has been working furiously to establish an image with the voters.

One attention-getting play was to don diving gear and go 200 feet deep off Santa Barbara to see how much oil was seeping from fractured undersea strata at the site of a disastrous leak.

His appearance at a farm workers rally made headlines because he was booed for not endorsing a union-sponsored boycott of California table grapes.

He has made fact-finding tours, delivered innumerable speeches and has spoken out at frequent news conferences on issues of the day.

He's confident he has the financial backing for his campaign, which he says will cost $1.5 to $2 million.

Tunney was born in New York City June 26, 1934, graduated from Yale in 1956, studied international law at The Hague, and obtained a law degree from the University of Virginia in 1958.

He practiced briefly in New York City before serving three years in the Air Force as an attorney, winding up at nearby March Air Force base.
